

For Brian C. Herald's Fugue for the King all string parts should be played in a traditional baroque style. All notes should be broad and legato with an organ-like quality. The intent is to blend as much as is possible when recording separately, unless you have the melody.